How Bud Will Provide Value

Bud is an accomplished author, speaker, and global consultant in all aspects of transformation including: customer experience; employee engagement; and innovation

Bud's book, Customer Driven Change presents his belief that connecting customers and employees is the key to organization health and relevance

Bud has an in-depth global understanding of customer experience management. After being a Change Partner with Deloitte he was the SVP and Director of Global Consulting Services for Synovate Loyalty (now part of Ipsos)

Bud brings global customer consulting experience to the discussion having advised marquee companies such as Whirlpool, Toyota South Africa, and Microsoft Europe. Bud just completed a two year CEO sponsored transformation, customer focused engagement for Korea Telecom

Connect Customers to Employees – Period!

Theme

- Employees no longer work for the companies that employ them – we are all part of the temporary workforce
- Performance based management has taken away the “entitlement” to a job – and along with it the employers ability to connect the employee to the company
- Today employee engagement can come from only one source – our customers and the innovative experiences that we provide them

Summary

- Organizations need ideas from everyone, everywhere
- The stimulation for ideas that will sustain a business comes from its customers
- The barrier to implementing these innovations comes from the rules the organization places on itself
- We need to let our employees break through the noise of the organization so our customers can be heard

Why Attendees Want to Hear this Talk

What's New?

The idea that:

- employees are “free agents”
- employee passion is ignited by their devotion to customers, not an imposed attachment to shareholders
- employees can create a customer experience & then get the organization to align behind it

What are the Take-Aways?

Learn how to:

1. Successfully change the customer experience by better understanding your business strategy & how customers support it
2. Generate new innovations for customers by crashing their needs against your sacred cows
3. Stop customer experience innovations from going to your organization's graveyard
